Road, telephone talk settlements

Two major labor issues—a strike by teamsters that had affected several area projects and a threatened strike by communications workers in the Bell system—were resolved during the weekend.

A last-minute tentative contract agreement between American Telephone and Telegraph Co. (AT&T) and the Communications Workers of America late Saturday averted a threatened nation-wide strike against the Bell System.

"We were delighted to see everyone at his desk this morning," Ken Evers, district manager for Illinois Bell in Granite City, commented, adding, "We were ready, should there have been a strike."

The workers in this district are continuing to work while local issues are being negotiated in St. Louis. A strike still is possible if the local issues are not settled by Saturday, but telephone company officials say they are optimistic about the progress of the local talks.

After the settlement of local issues, copies of the new national pact will be submitted by mail to the Communications Workers for a ratification vote. Although some opposition to ratification is anticipated, officials said the new benefits are "in the area sought by most of the workers."

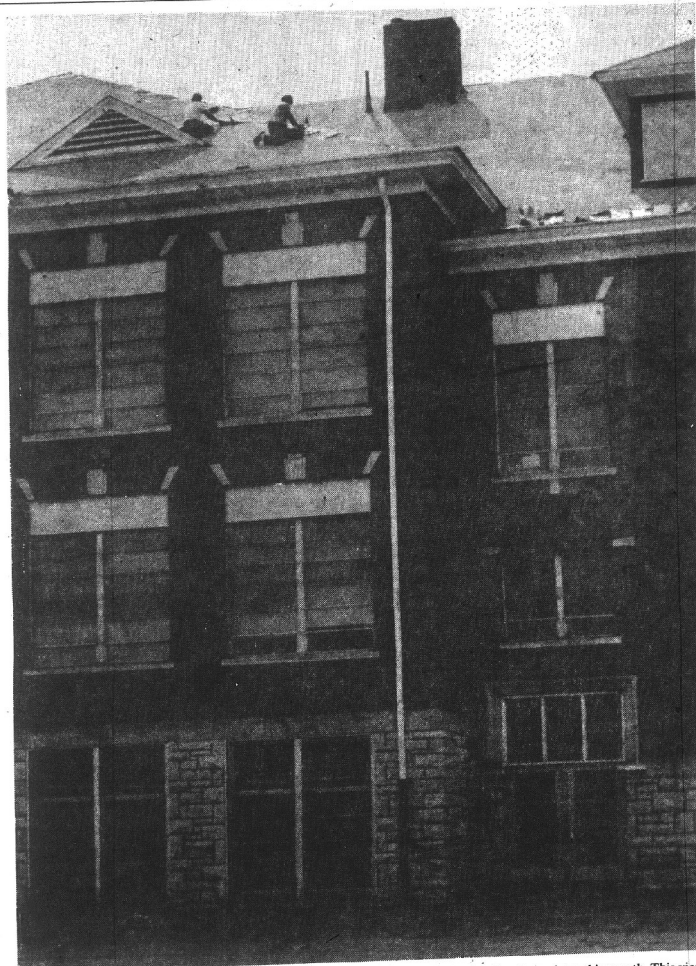

If the three-year national pact is ratified, workers will receive pay increases retroactive to Aug. 7. The agreement, expected to cost the company $3.3 billion over the next three years, will give workers about 7.8 per cent more pay in the first year, 7.05 per cent in the second year and 6.48 per cent in the third year.

With the cost of living and other benefit increases, the new agreement is expected to give telephone employees increases totaling about 31 per cent during the life of the contract.

Agreement was reached Saturday night with the help of federal mediators. President Jimmy Carter was said to be closely following the progress of the talks, but did not attempt to intervene.

A similar agreement covering 120,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) and AT&T also was reached Saturday night and the final settlement was reached with Western Electric only two minutes before the strike deadline. Western Electric's 50,000 employees manufacture telephone equipment.

LOFTY TASK. Two workers Friday morning go about their work as the McKinley School, Niedringhaus Avenue and Iowa Street, gets a new roof. The precariously perched men are reroofing the entire school.

20th Street project

Replacement and modernization of the railroad crossing on 20th Street—in a project almost identical to that planned on Niedringhaus Avenue—has been authorized for funding under the Federal Highway Act, it was announced by city engineering officials today.

The improvement will include complete automatic signalization and widening and resurfacing of the street at a cost tentatively estimated at $300,000.

Monroe Brewer, city engineer, said that under present planning the job will be done at no cost to the city. He said that under the Federal Highway Act the U.S. Department of Transportation will finance 90 per cent of the cost.

Because 20th Street is a designated state highway, the Illinois Department of Transportation would pick up the 10 per cent local share of the cost, Brewer said.

Brewer announced at the same time that the Federal Highway Department also has approved funding for installation of flasher warning signals at the railroad crossing on Nameoki Drive at the Illinois Terminal Crossing at Route 3. This project will cost an estimated $35,000, of which the city would pay a local 10 per cent share of about $3,500. The project and the city's share was approved by the City Council last week. Brewer noted that this project has been listed in applications for Federal Highway Act funding for several years and finally received

Madison woman killed

Mrs. Lucille (Garcia) Martes, 51, of 1825 Market St., Madison, a resident of the Quad-Cities for 40 years, was injured fatally early Sunday morning when struck by a car as she was crossing McCambridge Avenue near Third Street in Madison.

Mrs. Martes was pronounced dead at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 12:21 a.m. An inquest will be held.

Madison police said Mrs. Martes was struck by a car driven by Charles A. Lane, 36, Lucy Drive, Belleville, Lane, who was southbound on McCambridge Avenue, told officers the woman stepped from the center of the street into the path of his car.

He said he applied his brakes but was unable to avoid striking the victim.

Mrs. Martes was born in Arkansas, moving to the area 40 years ago. She was employed as a clerk at the Midwest Card Co., St. Louis, was a member of St. Mary's Church in Madison, and a member of the St. Mary's PTA Association.

She is survived by her husband, German Martes, two sons, Ricky and Jesse Martes, both of Madison; two brothers, Joe Garcia of Granite City and Mike Garcia of Madison, and three sisters, Mrs. Charles (Carmen) Arriola and Mrs. Roger (Josephine) Westernman, both of Fairmont City, and Mrs. Robert (Lenora) Frieve of Madison.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Two storms bring wind, rain Sunday

Two heavy thunderstorms swept through the Quad-City area Sunday, bringing a total of 7 1/2 inches of rain that flooded some intersections and overloaded at least five storm-water sewer lift stations.

Heavy winds gusting to 75 miles per hour in some places accompanied both storms, one which struck about 11:30 a.m., and the other about 8:30 p.m.

The high wind and lightning resulted in a number of power outages in the Quad-City area, several of which lasted about two hours. Tree limbs were blown down in some areas.

The storm, particularly that Sunday night, was general throughout the metropolitan area, moving eastward in a front of heavy black clouds. Between 6 and 8 p.m. temperatures dropped from 95 degrees to 78, according to the National Weather Service.

An estimated 400 to 500 power outages were reported throughout the Quad-City area at various times during the two storms.

An area north of Pontoon Beach was without power several hours after lightning struck a power line and the substation failed to switch over the power automatically, requiring Illinois Power Co. linemen to change the circuit

Waste growing political issue

(18th of a series on politics in Madison County)
Waste of taxpayers' dollars, or the appearance of such waste, constitutes one of the leading political problems for the Madison County Board and its image.

Emphasizing the issue to the maximum, Granite City mayor hopeful Daniel Partney, a member of the County Board, is using as his base of activity his membership on the board's Central Services Committee.

Surprisingly, the board and spokesmen for it are remaining relatively silent on such matters, both in terms of reviving procedures or defending existing policies.

Partney and some others on the board are seeking to achieve fully centralized purchasing and they believe it could be implemented if key committees agree.

He visualizes savings of $500,000 over a five-year period, an accomplishment claimed for the establishment of a St. Clair County purchasing process.

Madison County Purchasing Agent James Hyndman says he has been drawing up a list of all food items used at the county jail, juvenile detention home, shelter care center and nursing home.

Hyndman hopes to be able to help the four centers by showing

School budget up in Madison

A new tentative budget of $4,024,312 for the 1977-78 fiscal year was approved by the Madison Board of Education Thursday night and was posted for public inspection.

The new budget is an increase of $215,730 over last year's overall appropriations in the school district's seven operating accounts.

The board set Thursday, Sept. 15, as the time of a public hearing on the budget bill, followed by a regular meeting in which the new budget will be adopted. The new tax levy also will be enacted at that time.

School Superintendent John Palchick said the budget is not expected to result in an increase in the district's present tax rate of $3.11 per $100 assessed valuation.

"If there should be any rate increase, it would result from a decrease in assessed valuation," Palchick said.

This year's $215,730 increase in the budget total represents salary raises and higher costs in

RECYCLING AND LESS WASTE are goals at Granite City Steel, which has installed these three new acid-storage tanks at its Cold Strip Department. The tanks receive spent dilute hydrochloric acid used in the Cold Strip pickling operation to remove iron oxide from the surface of steel strip. Formerly discharged into the GC Steel water treatment system, the spent acid is now collected until it can be hauled away to a commercial processor, after which it can be used by manufacturers as an ingredient in chemical manufacturing. The operation is similar to one completed earlier in the year at the Granite City Steel North Plant, where sulfuric acid is now handled in much the same way.

Susan Lance is bride of Joseph Szczepanik

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Susan Lee Lance and Joseph Steven Szczepanik Jr. in an early afternoon ceremony on July 29 at the First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue.

A program of selected wedding music preceded the double ring ceremony, performed at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Dale Edwards.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Mildred Granda, 2215 Lee Ave., and James Lance, 2809 Circle Drive. The groom is a son of Joseph Szczepanik Sr., 1351 W. Pontoon Road, and Mrs. Judith Douglas, 1305 Old Trenton Road, Highland, Ill.

Attending the couple were Miss Vickie Miller and Miss Sharon Green, maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively, and Kristy Lance and Junior Douglas as flower girl and ringbearer.

Ernest Pierman served as best man and Mike Szczepanik was the groomsmen. Ushers were Kenneth King and Rick Dallen.

A formal-length white bridal satin gown enhanced with Venise lace etched with seed pearls, was worn by the bride. Her three-tiered lace veil also was accented with lace and secured to a beaded headband. She carried a bouquet of white pompons, blue forget-me-nots and baby's breath.

The bridesmaids chose floral pattern print over dotted Swiss full-length dresses, complemented with white picture hats trimmed with blue velvet ribbons.

Each held a nosegay of blue silk flowers and dried baby's breath.

The flower girl also wore a blue dotted Swiss frock created with a lace bodice and short puff sleeves. She carried a basket of blossoms.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Granda selected a green gown designed with layered sleeves, trimmed with an embroidery braid, and a flare skirt. She wore a corsage of carnations.

A reception was held at the J. C. Pavilion Park in Highland after the ceremony.

A Granite City High School North graduate, the groom is now employed as a machinist at the Highland Machine and Screw Co. The bride is a Granite City High School South graduate.

They are residing in Highland.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH SZCZEPANIK JR. The bride is the former Miss Susan Lee Lance. Their wedding took place at the First Assembly of God Church in Granite City.

provide the service through confidential interviews for individuals or whole families or in groups.

The training of the caseworker follows two main lines:

- (1) Each worker must know how to use the complicated network of human services for the benefit of the client.
- (2) The workers must have an understanding of the psychological meanings of behavior and the emotional factors involved in interpersonal relationships.

The bulk of the clients are family members who are not getting along with each other. The dysfunction incurred from impaired personal relationships may be reflected at home, in the community, on the job, at school, etc.

Groupwork uses in its various forms, provides assistance to:

- (a) Couples with marital problems.
- (b) Parents who have serious conflicts with their children.
- (c) Young people who have continuing difficulties with friends or at school.
- (d) Individual personality problems.
- (e) Adolescents confused by the complicated world.
- (f) Individuals who are worried about their jobs, their health, or their social life and sexual adjustment.

The Family Counseling Center describes itself as a non-profit, professional counseling center for people with problems.

The treatment process is handled as follows:

INDIVIDUAL AND FAMILY TREATMENT: Individual and family treatment are predicated on the needs all have to communicate effectively and to interact with each other positively.

The training of the caseworker helps him or her to understand the reasons why a person cannot always be true. The bulk of the treatment is carried on through this technique.

The length of time that people are seen varies with the severity of the problems and the personality of the clients.

GROUP THERAPY: Group therapy is a helpful technique for some of the applicants who come in asking for counseling about interpersonal relationships or about their response to some troubling experience.

A treatment group consists of about ten people who profit more from the experience of discussing their problems with others under professional guidance than when they are seen by themselves.

Groups may be formed of those sharing a common experience, such as a loss due to death or divorce, or of people who respond better to the observations and experience of others.

FAMILY LIFE EDUCATION: Educational workshops are designed to enrich family and individual living.

approval this year for 1977 fiscal funding.

Plans for modernization of the 20th Street railroad crossing under federal-state funding contrasts with the Niedringhaus Avenue project only in the method of financing.

The Niedringhaus Avenue railroad crossing will be modernized under an Illinois Commerce Commission order in which the railroad, the state and Granite City will share the cost.

That project also will cost an estimated $350,000, but the state's Crossing Protection Fund will reimburse the city for about $2,000 of the total, leaving a cost of $2,700 to be paid by the city.

The city's share has been estimated at $35,000, but the state's Crossing Protection Fund will reimburse the city for about $2,000 of the total, leaving a cost of $2,700 to be paid by the city.

Bulk of the cost will be paid by the railroad in replacing the tracks and that part of the street in which the tracks are located, and in installing automated signals and gates.

The railroad also will be reimbursed in part by the state's Crossing Protection Fund.

Brewer said that no plans are being made for improvement of the 19th Street railroad crossing because of proposed construction of an overpass linking downtown and West Granite City over 19th Street.

Instead, he said, the city has applied for a grant from the Crossing Protection Fund that would aid in financing the overpass.

He noted that it would be impractical to spend more than $300,000 to modernize the 19th Street crossing that would be used for only a short time.

"Those funds can be put to a better use in financing the overpass project," he commented.

Increase in jobs open to graduates

In college placement and recruiting circles, the 1976-77 academic year turned out to be the most active year of the '70s for job offers for new graduates.

David Van Horn, director of University Placement at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, says latest data received from the College Placement Council shows significant increases in recruiting activity at all three degree levels.

At the bachelor's level, employers made 41 per cent more job offers than a year ago. There was a 43 per cent increase in offers at the master's level and 33 per cent at the doctoral level.

More than 90 per cent of the offers came from employers in the private sector, with manufacturing and other industrial firms accounting for most of them. The remaining 10 per cent were from government agencies and non-profit organizations.

Most of the action was in technical disciplines, particularly at the bachelor level. Employers made 51 per cent more offers to engineering graduates than a year ago and 37 per cent more offers to students who majored in the sciences, Van Horn said.

Candidates in business disciplines received 27 per cent more offers and those in the humanities and social sciences attracted 21 per cent more.

Indicative of this employer emphasis on finding scarce engineering graduates is the fact that engineering offers accounted for 35 per cent of all bachelor's offers, he said.

For the first time in several years, the percentage increase in offers to women bachelor's degree graduates was lower than for men. Women received 37 per cent more offers than in 1975-76, while men collected 41 per cent more.

In starting salary averages at the bachelor's level, petroleum engineering continued to be the runaway leader with an average of $13,512 a month.

Commanding second place in salary average was chemical engineering at $11,380.

The beginning salary picture for women was mixed. Their dollar averages were higher than those for men in all bachelor's engineering disciplines except one. In all other disciplines, however, the materials and supplies due to inflationary reasons, the superintendent said.

The budget will be posted for inspection at the school district offices, 1707 Fourth St., Madison, until the time of the public hearing.

The board approved an appropriation of $3,283,562 in the educational fund, an increase of $156,980 over last year's $3,126,582. The budget lists a $757,645 balance in that fund at the beginning of the 1977-78 school year July 1 and projects revenue of $2,687,124 from taxes, state aid and other sources during the year.

This will give the district total available funds of $3,444,769 in the educational fund, sufficient to meet projected expenditures.

Anticipated expenditures for transportation are budgeted at $110,750, up from $90,000 last year. The district had a balance of $14,772 in this account at the beginning of the year, and expects revenue of $8,732 for total available funds of $10,000, or almost $10,000 less than the proposed expenditures.

Budgeted for the building fund is a total of $74,500, up from $63,500 last year. Balance in this fund at the beginning of the year was $185,891, which with $186,691 in anticipated revenue will provide available funds of $727,492.

Municipal retirement fees are budgeted at $85,000, an increase from $78,000 last year. This fund had a beginning balance of $6,308, with revenue estimated at $74,143 for a total of $82,451.

For improvements under the Fire Safety Fund, the budget appropriates $55,000. Total available funds of $77,008 are anticipated in a balance of $4,755 and revenue of $12,253.

The budget projects expenditures of $125,000 in special education services. This fund will be made up of a balance of $112,518 plus $12,482 in anticipated revenue.

Cost of bond payments and interest during the year is projected at $206,590. The budget document lists a $133,151 at the beginning of the year and during the year 1976-77, and $235,554 for a total of $368,705 in this account.

In other action, the School Board voted to rehire two teachers who were dismissed last year. They are Mike Starland, a teacher at Dunbar School, and Nora Oram who has been reassigned as a kindergarten teacher.

Granite City police found their switchboard jammed for about 30 minutes during each of the two Sunday storms as numerous burglar alarms were tripped by the winds.

The first storm-related call came at 11:51 a.m. Sunday on a power line down at 23rd Street and Nameoki Road. Police did not find a power line down, but did find the traffic lights at that intersection malfunctioning.

Between 11:52 a.m. and 12:09 p.m., eight burglar alarms sounded and each was checked and found to be false. At 12:06 p.m., the traffic lights at Nameoki and Johnson roads were blacked out and also were put on flash.

At 12:10 p.m. Sunday, police notified Street Superintendent Lionel Portell about signals that five storm sewer lift stations were overloaded by water and had backed up. Street crews were dispatched to each.

At 12:13 p.m., R. Dron Electrical Co. was notified that traffic lights along Nameoki Road at Johnson Road, Lindell Boulevard and 23rd Street were malfunctioning.

The first problem from the second storm came at 8:03 p.m. Sunday when a power line was blown down in the 2400 block of Iowa Street.

Police also answered five false burglar alarms between 8:15 p.m. and 8:26 p.m.

Charged in break-in at Bell garage

The Madison County state's attorney's office has issued an informational document charging Winfred Reed Cooper, 27, East St. Louis, with aggravated battery and two counts of burglary.

The document alleges Cooper broke into the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. garage at 2241 Adams St., June 3, and again June 16. It also alleges that during the June 16 break-in, he struck P. W. Hosell, a security guard on the head with a hammer.

About $300 cash was stolen from the garage June 3 and security guards halted Cooper in the building June 16, so nothing was stolen.

Cooper's bond was set at a total of $75,000.

Boy, 16, named on 3 charges

A 16-year-old West Granite City youth has been charged with violating curfew, illegal possession of alcohol and a curfew violation after being arrested at his home Thursday.

It alleged the youth escaped from a police officer at 1:10 a.m. Wednesday. The officer alleged seeing a boy on a bicycle with a can of beer in his hand at West 20th and Spruce streets who was stopped for questioning.

The officer recalled the youth showing him a prescription bottle and saying there was "pot" in it, possibly referring to marijuana.

The youth was ordered to get off the bicycle, but refused and said the officer would have to force him off, it was alleged.

When the officer grabbed his arm, the youth grabbed the policeman around the neck and they scuffled. The youth then broke loose and ran down an alley between Spruce and Maple streets, official reports indicated.

The officer held the bicycle for evidence and warrants were issued for the boy's arrest.

Welfare-work plan by Carter

A $34 billion plan announced Saturday may replace present welfare, which President Jimmy Carter calls "antwork and antfamily, unfair to the poor, and wasteful of taxpayers' dollars."

In addition to achieving more fairness, the plan if enacted ultimately could reduce costs, he predicted.

While boosting yearly federal spending by $2.8 billion over the current $27.9 billion, the program would cut Illinois costs by 27 per cent, achieving a $207 million saving in this state, Mr. Carter said.

Two-parent families, "single parent families with no young children would have to accept work if it is available. Cash supplements would bring their income up to $8,400."

Aged, blind and disabled persons and single parents of children under the age of seven would receive income support without having to take outside work.

A blind, old or disabled individual would get $2,500 a year. A couple in this category would receive $3,750.

When available, full-time work would have to be accepted by the household head in a two-parent welfare family, by single welfare recipients, by childless couples and by single parents with no children under 14.

Part-time jobs would have to be sought by single parents with children aged 7-14 if the work does not interfere with caring for the children.

Day care facilities would be emphasized, with single heads of families able to deduct up to $150 a month for the cost.

Scouts at jamboree hear war prisoner

Jamboree Correspondent Caleb Miller reported today that the Chokio Mound Council's national jamboree unit, Troop 649, had the privilege of having lunch with Lieutenant Commander Joseph C. Plumb since reporting to the jamboree in Pennsylvania last week.

The troop left here eight days ago and is to return home Thursday morning.

"The North Central Region had the honor of listening to Lt. Cdr. Plumb tell an exciting story Tuesday evening."

"On May 19, 1967, he and Lt. Junior-grade Gary Anderson flew a cover mission over Vietnam. Their flight was shot down. Both parachuted over enemy lines."

"Both men were captured and taken prisoners of war, not to see each other for another six years."

"Lt. Cdr. Plumb was kept from any Americans for five years. He was tortured almost to insanity and was improperly fed. Then one day he heard a scratching noise."

"At first he thought it was a mouse. He searched for the source of the noise and found a wire poking out of a hole in the wall of his cell.

"He pulled on the wire, but it disappeared. The next time it appeared, there was a note attached to it, saying 'Study this code Lt. Cdr. Bob Shumaker.'"

"They contacted each other frequently with the code that Lt. Cdr. Shumaker had invented."

"One year later, they were released from jail," Miller related.

Jimmy B. Hartline, 14, of 2804 Edwards St., was treated at the hospital for swelling and abrasions to the left elbow. He was x-rayed and released.

Young Hartline was charged with failure to possess a driver's license.

them the best available prices for various foods.

There also is believed to be a possibility that purchasing in greater quantities, through combining the four "shopping lists," might reduce unit costs.

The Central Services Committee plans to confer with the Buildings Committee about the jail and the Health Institutions Committee about the three homes.

Hyndman would control the placement of food orders, gaining added authority as committees delegated to him.

Special emphasis has been placed in the current study on buying of meat and on encouraging continued bidding on food acquisition.

Other types of goods used by county departments and offices also are being suggested for transfer to Hyndman's consideration. Precisely what guidelines and specifications he would follow have not been announced in detail.

Youth charged in attack on boy, 13

Jeff S. Perryman, 17, of 2645 E. 24th St., was charged at 7:25 p.m. Thursday with aggravated battery in connection with the July 24 beating of a 13-year-old Craig Pilger, 1316 Edwardsville Road.

Perryman originally told police he saw a group of about four boys beating the Pilger boy in the 1200 block of Rhodes Street and Perryman tried unsuccessfully to top it.

Detectives investigated, and alleged Perryman was an attacker, and not trying to halt a fight. Perryman's right arm was injured in the altercation and he was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Later, officers said he fell through the large window in the door of the police detective division and was returned to the hospital where he was admitted. No charges were filed at that time, pending further investigation.

Hurt in fall

The driver of the car, William J. Robbins, 2406 State St., and a passenger in the car alleged Whitehead approached the moving car and attempted to kick it.

Although the car did not touch Whitehead, the pedestrian spun and fell, rearing a broken back suffered earlier.

Boy suspected in window breaking

A 13-year-old Granite City boy was ordered Friday afternoon to appear before juvenile authorities as a suspect in the breaking of four windows at Wilson School about 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Police reported they were called to the school and found two windows on the south side and two on the west side broken.

Witnesses told officers they had seen a boy break out the windows with his fist. Officers learned the identity of a boy and talked with the youth and his father. Police said the boy admitted being at the school, but denied breaking the windows.

However, police said he had scratches and cuts on his hands that appeared to have been caused by glass, although the boy said he received the injuries in a fall from his bicycle.

Nude man flees

Granite City police are seeking a young man about 19 or 20 who appeared about 5:30 a.m. Friday on the front porch of a Granite City woman's home and took off all his clothing except his blue tennis shoes and socks.

The woman said she saw the man outside her front door and that his trousers were rolled up and laying on the front porch. She said she called police and the man apparently heard her.

He picked up his trousers and fled, going through several yards in the neighborhood.

She said he was about six feet, one inch tall, weighed about 220 pounds and had black hair and blue eyes. She said she did not know if he lived in the neighborhood.

Settlements

Local issues still under negotiation for the Southwestern District of Illinois Bell are said to include town reclassification and the upgrading of clerical positions.

If the union's town reclassification requests are granted, workers at some rural towns will receive increases due to higher costs of living in those areas.

Work has resumed on both Highway 151 and Maryville Road project today as the smelters strike in Illinois has been settled.

Paving of the Maryville Road extension is to begin by Wednesday.

According to a spokesman for the Illinois Department of Transportation and a Team-union representative, work has resumed at all projects stopped by the strike.

The final sections of guard rail on Highway 151 are now being put in place, but no date has been announced when the new highway will open to the public, the Press-Record was told today.

Teamsters Locals, including Local 525 in Alton, were involved in the strike, which affected about 250 coal trucks in all parts of the state except Chicago and the Northeastern corner of Illinois.

A union spokesman said that a few minor language terms are being worked out, but the economic package was the same as that of the Southern Illinois Builders Association.

Bill Bounds, president of the Illinois Conference of Teamsters, said that an all-night negotiating session, was ratified by union leaders before a ballot early Friday morning.

He said that the teamsters kept going on machinery that the contractors wanted eliminated from the contract and won retroactive pay hikes.

Bounds said the settlement provides a $2.25 per hour boost in wages and benefits over the new agreement wages ranged from $9.60 an hour to $10.20 an hour.

In other labor news, major unions at Union Electric Co. Friday approved a new contract offering wage and fringe benefit increases totaling about 8 percent per year.

A three-state strike affecting about 75,000 customers had been threatened. A portion of the Quad-City area is served by Union Electric and a strike would have affected numerous Quad-City area residents who are employed at the plant.

BIG BAND SOUNDS will be the theme of the Mississippi River Festival concert Friday night. Front top to bottom are Tex Beneke, Bob Eberly and Helen O'Connell.

Kris, Viveca, Tex, Bob and Helen ready to entertain here

The next to the last week-long span of activities at the Mississippi River Festival, held on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, begins this Wednesday with Kris Kristofferson and Rita Coolidge and ends with Jackson Browne on Wednesday, Aug. 17.

Between comes a nearly complete schedule of activities, including the St. Louis Symphony, a play, the sounds of the big band era, and a visit from Henry Mancini.

Kristofferson comes from a background that ranges from being a Rhodes scholar at Oxford to the obligatory stay in Nashville. He has moved from country-influenced music to a top Hollywood box office draw in such pictures as "A Star Is Born," "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore," "Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid," "The Sailor Who Fell From Grace With The Sea" and others.

Appearing with Kristofferson is his wife, Rita Coolidge. Currently atop the record charts with her version of "Higher and Higher," Miss Coolidge has a new album out, "Anytime, Anywhere," that promises to be her most successful yet.

On Thursday, Aug. 11, Viveca Lindfors and her son, Kristoffer Tabori, will appear in "My Mother, My Son" in the Communications Building theater on the SIUE campus at 8:30 p.m.

She is a mainstay of Broadway and Hollywood, having appeared in more than 50 films and also about 50 plays.

A teacher as well as a performer, she will be giving a two-day seminar prior to the performance. Those interested in attending may contract the Cultural Arts Services office on the campus at 692-2996.

The "Big Bands" will visit the Festival site Friday, Aug. 12, when Tex Beneke, Helen O'Connell and Bob Eberly perform at 8:30.

Beneke played saxophone and sang for Glen Miller, making such classics from the big band era as "Chattanooga Choo Choo," "Kalamazoo," "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree" and others.

Protect what you've put into your life

Most men think about life insurance when they first start a family.

But the older your family gets, the more you need life insurance—and the more life insurance you need.

The cost of living and children's financial needs grow with time. If your wife was suddenly left alone it would be tough for her to provide for your family.

So if life insurance was a good idea 20 years ago, it's an even better idea to call your Country Companies agent and review your life protection today.

The Country Companies. We're a little different than most insurance people.

Renovation at Federal Center

Congressman Melvin Price, D., 23rd, Ill. district, has announced that the Committee on Public Works and Transportation has acted favorably on his request to approve the renovation of building 103 at the Federal Center in St. Louis, clearing the way for the U.S. Army to realign the Army Aviation Systems Command (AVSCOM) and the Troop Support Command (TSCOM) to form the Aviation Research and Development Readiness Command (AVRADCOM) and the Troop Support and Material Readiness Command (TRACOM).

The collection of AVSCOM and TSCOM requires the renovation of buildings 103 and 105 at the Federal Center.

The General Services Administration needs the approval of the two prospectuses before the facilities can be renovated and the realignment take place. Committee approval of building 103 opens the way for the GSA prospectus for renovation will save taxpayers an estimated $658,000 per month over current operating costs, price estimated. Building 105 is pending approval.

State baseball meet action this week for Tri-City Legion

It's on to Galesburg for Tri-City American Legion Post 113. Second in the state Legion tournament a year ago, the local team repeated as Fifth Division champion with a pair of 2-0 wins Sunday afternoon over Carlyle.

Scheduled to play in the state tournament at the Community Field, Galesburg High School campus, at 2 p.m. Thursday, Post 113 will meet the Division Three victor yet to be determined.

Also undetermined is the Division One representative from the Chicago area.

There are six state entries, including host Galesburg, Division Two champion Barrington and Division Four champ Nokomis.

Tri-City victorious in its opening game at 2 p.m. Thursday would advance to a second-round contest at 4 p.m. Thursday.

A loss in the opening contest would place Post 113 in the losers' bracket to meet part in a game at 5 p.m. Friday.

Because rain has inundated the Galesburg area and prevented the completion of third Division baseball competition, there is a possibility that the Thursday-through-Sunday tourney might be delayed a day in starting.

Conrad Champion, Post 113 baseball strategist, has been informed.

When once-beaten Tri-City took the field early yesterday afternoon at Highland, Carlyle was still undefeated in the double-elimination tournament.

But Post 113 prevailed 2-0 on a four-hitter by Paul Evans, who struck out eight and walked four, and then won again on an identical score of 2-0 as Doug Rains pitched six and a third innings for the victory and Evans completed the game.

Most valuable player of the tournament was Eldon Warfield, who pitched nine and two-thirds innings, gained one pitching victory, drove in seven runs and connected for nine hits in 26 times at bat, including five doubles and a triple.

Rains and Evans recorded two victories each, and Evans allowed no earned runs in his 20 innings on the mound. Tom Mahl also starred on the mound.

The tournament finale yesterday saw Post 113 take five hits to a task made easier by Rains' and Evans' shutout pitching.

In the third inning, John Kerkovich singled him. Randy Smith then delivered a sacrifice fly to shortstop Keith Champion, produced a single to drive in Hendrick.

Fourth-inning action saw Warfield hit a scissor-kick home drive that the Carlyle right fielder dropped for a borderline error. Rains sacrificed, Kerkovich singled Warfield to third and Hendrick singled to rightfield.

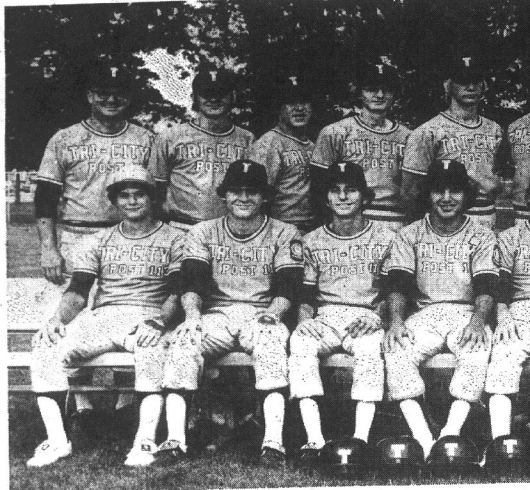

Rain at about noon was light and did not interrupt play as Post 113 and Evans stopped Carlyle in the first of the two Sunday contests. Each team collected four hits.

The game was scoreless until the eighth of the scheduled nine innings when Hendrick walked and stole second. Randy Smith bunted for a hit between the pitcher and third baseman. Hendrick broke the scoring ice on Keith Champion's grounder on which the shortstop erred. Smith took third on the play and scored on Evans' sacrifice fly to rightfield.

On Saturday night, Post 113 earned the right to advance to the championship play by eliminating Carbondale 5-2 as Mahl spun a four-hit game. His role proved invaluable because national Legion rules limit each pitcher to 12 innings in three days. Conrad Champion noted.

Hits by Warfield and Joe Parente sandwiched around a walk to Mahl produced a second-inning run for Post 113.

In the third, Smith singled, Keith Champion sacrificed, Mike Clark singled to put runners on first and third, and Warfield doubled them both. Hendrick doubled Clark, Smith walked and Champion bunt-

GC Second Baptist state softball champ

Second Baptist garnered top honors in the inaugural Illinois Amateur Softball Association men's state church tournament here during the weekend by upsetting the unbeaten Community Heights Assembly of the double-elimination meet.

The local team will advance to regional play Aug. 27-28 at Louisville, Ky.

The two teams met three times during the two-day tournament, with the Community Heights team winning the first two contests, beating them 7-5 and then ending the tournament with a 12-1 victory.

Individual game results for the two days, Friday and Saturday, were:

St. John United Church of Christ 16, Tri-City Park Two 14 (Gary Tom Richards, Gary Willard).

Second Baptist 14, City Temple 11 (HR Howard Black, Jim Parks, Frank Monroe).

Tri-City Park One 7, Calvary Baptist 2 (HR Randy Hildreth).

scoring three runs in the first inning, five in the fourth and one in the sixth. The Brewers tallied their runs in the first and fifth frames.

Mark Tretter started on the mound for East Alto and received relief help in the third inning. Each team made three errors and J&K players used their six hits to maximum advantage.

In the second game, Daugherty garnered two singles to account for a third of his team's hits but the Brewers garnered nine hits and won 6-0.

East Alto took a 1-0 lead in the third inning and added five sixth-inning runs to wrap up the game for Pitcher Ed Wallace. Brewer O'Shea hurried for J&K, which erred four times to the Brewers' lone miscue.

Track athletes will be Cougars

Chuck Phillips, the leading high jumper in area prep ranks last spring while a member of the Alton High School track team, has signed a letter of intent to enroll this fall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

SIU's track and field coach, Jack Whitted, made the announcement. Phillips' best jump in the past season was six feet, eight and one-half inches.

Previously signed by Whitted were two other track stars, Alex Griffin and James Duckworth of the state high school championship East St. Louis High School Flyers. Griffin and Duckworth, both half-milers, were members of the East St. Louis High two-mile relay team which set a national prep record for the event this spring.

6 tournament wins give Tri-City 34-8 record

It was a complicated Fifth Division tournament, and one not without its worrisome moments. But for Tri-City Post 113 it was gill-edged ticket to the state American Legion baseball tournament.

Runners up in the 1976 Illinois Divisional play at Highland's VFW Community Park pitted tournament Post 113, which had a 28-7 won-lost record; Carbondale 24-4 of the 23rd Legion District; Harrisburg (30-12) of the 24th District; Carlyle (44-9) of the 25th District; and host Highland.

When the dust of battle had settled late Sunday afternoon, all of the teams but one had suffered double defeats, and adding Tri-City's lone setback made it a nine-defeat total. On the victory side, Tri-City had accomplished six wins, Carlyle two and Carbondale one.

Post 113 advances to the state meet with a 34-8 record, while Carlyle finished with 46-11, Carbondale 25-6, Highland 25-19 and Harrisburg 20-14.

Composed primarily of Granite City High School South athletes, the Tri-City Legion baseball team began the Fifth Division meet Thursday afternoon by blasting Harrisburg

J& team divides; rain hampers games

The schedule neatly called for all regular season play to end Sunday afternoon, enabling later City Baseball League playoffs to begin Aug. 14.

But Mother Nature intervened in the form of a heavy downpour of rain late Sunday morning—repeated on Sunday evening—and prevented most of the activity.

Mitchell Athletic Club's doubleheader against Thomas Mortuary at Wilson Park could not be played due to the rain, nor could Mercer Mortuary's twinnbill against the season champion Music Room Vans at East Alto.

J&K Liquors was able to host the East Alto Brewers yesterday at Collinsville.

With Bob Daugherty widely scattering nine enemy hits, J and J won the opener 9-2,

Confer on swimming pool design and cost prospects

Granite City Park District residents may be without a swimming facility next year, park officials say.

The present pool will close after Aug. 28 and lacks state approval for next year.

Event if plans for a new facility were finalized and put into action immediately, it may not be possible to complete construction in time for next year's normal opening date, officials believe.

The district is pressing ahead in an attempt to alleviate the situation.

A meeting with architects is planned for 7 p.m. Wednesday to obtain bids on different types of facilities and the projected cost of constructing each.

"Some people have voiced one for an Olympic-size pool, and some want an enclosed, all-weather facility," Robert Patrick, park board president, has commented.

"We still have not decided on how to finance a new facility," he added.

"That may be decided after we draw upon the experiences that architects have had with costs of operating different types of pools."

An inspection by the state last month revealed that the swimming pool filtering system is still operating below a state minimum standard of 275,000 gallons of water every six hours.

Close rivalry in swimming

Close competition developed last week at Paddlers with Gaslight of Collinsville, and final relays brought the scores even. Several aquatic records were broken.

In 100-yard freestyle, Susan Ponce, Scott Bueger and Rosie Baggot placed first for the local swimmers.

Medley relay races covering 200 yards saw several teams place first: age 9-10 girls, Leslie Baggot, Ed Long, Vernon Thomas, and 15-17 girls, Kathleen Baggot, Helena Langley, Janet Becherer and Rosie Baggot.

In 50-yard freestyle, Jason Jolly, Patti Grebel, Pat Muschall and Rosie Baggot placed first, while in 100-yard intermediate medley Jason Jolly, Patti Grebel, Shawn Allen, Susan Ponce, Scott Bueger, Breffni Baggot and Janet Becherer placed first.

25-yard breaststroke winner was Michael McCormick and in 50-yard breaststroke Carole Bush placed first.

Scott Bueger placed first in 100-yard breaststroke and in 25-yard backstroke Mike McCormick and Kristy Toussaint placed first.

30-yard backstroke winners were Jason Jolly and Shawn Allen, and 100-yard backstroke victors were Kelly Mann, David Linhart and Rosie Baggot.

Winners in 50-yard butterfly were Susan Ponce and Shawn Allen, 100-yard butterfly, Breffni Baggot, Janet Becherer and Pat Muschall; Brian Forbes, Brian Dillard, Niall Baggot and Mike McCormick; 200-yard free relay, 9-10 girls Linda Kuberski, Kim Muschall, Jane Hein, Patti Grebel, 11-12 girls Sandra Zarlingo, Lori Bridick, Janice Modica and Susan Ponce, 13-14 boys, Kelly Mann, David Becherer, Scott Bueger and Pat Muschall and 15-17 boys, Brian Forbes, Vernon Thomas, Kim Kelahan and Breffni Baggot.

Cyclist Poovey hoping to extend his winning streak

Terry Poovey, Garland, Tex., made it three in a row here last week by edging out Rob Beary, Belleville. Can the speedy motorcyclist achieve a fourth straight win tomorrow night at Tri-City Speedway.

Poovey and Beary got off the line side by side with Ken McDonald, Olathe, Mo., close behind.

The three remained that way for most of the race, and then Poovey and Beary pulled a short distance away to continue the battle for first.

Throughout the main event, neither Beary nor Poovey had more than a four-inch advantage.

McDonald and Lance Jones, Gadsden, Ala., were just behind the leaders and were having a typical duel. Jones held the edge by inches at the checkered flag. Both riders claim the Talladega, Ala., Short Track as home base.

Spalding ties for point lead at Tri-City Speedway race

With Spalding of Pontoon Beach has tied Kenny Shrum of St. Charles, Mo., for the Tri-City Speedway point lead, according to unofficial point totals released after Saturday night's racing program at the local half-mile dirt track.

Shrum's luck was slightly worse than Spalding's Saturday night as both autos were involved in a multi-car crash during the feature race. Spalding was able to keep his car running while Shrum's was nearly demolished and he had to drop out of the feature.

Joe Ross of Mechanicville, Ill., earned his first feature race victory here during the 15-lap feature race, which was marred by three accidents involving a total of nine cars.

The three favorites, Shrum, Ross Wallace of Arnold, Mo., and Spalding, were among those in the crashes.

The third crash came with only eight laps left in the race and the race was halted by the red flag. Spalding's car, which was involved in the accident, was placed at the rear of the pack.

At the front was Willie Johnston of St. Charles, a "hard charger" who had to be considered the favorite at that point.

But Johnston's auto developed mechanical problems moments before the restart and he had to pull out of the pole position only eight laps short of victory.

As the green flag fell, Spalding began moving up the rear of the pack and by the checkered flag, he had moved into third position.

Finishing behind the winner, Road, were Jerry Sifford of Imperial, Mo., Spalding, and Mike Wallace of Arnold, Mo.

Mike Wallace won the 15-lap semi-feature followed by Bert Chestnut of Glenmo, Mo., and Paul Wallace of Kirkwood, Mo.

Popular driver Bill Myers of East Alton won the handicap event, but developed clutch problems and had to scratch from the remainder of the evening's program.

Heat winners were Mike Wallace, Fred Stotler of Overland, Mo., Johnston and Ross.

In sportsman division racing, Pat Walsh of Kirkwood, Mo., was the evening's star, winning the second heat race and the 15-lap feature.

Jerry Zehnle of St. Louis was second in the feature. Granite City's Dean Aerne finished third, and Bill Ried of St. Charles, Mo., was fourth.

Gary Barker of Glen Carbon won the first heat in that division.

Official season point standings from Saturday night's race are being computed.

Restaurant burglarized

A $300 color television and some food were stolen and a large quantity of draft beer was poured down the drains during burglary at the Top of the Barrel Restaurant, 19th Street and Delmar Avenue, between 4 a.m. and 3 p.m. Sunday.

No signs of forced entry could be found. A door to the roof was found open, but police do not believe it was used for entry, since the roof is two stories higher than the nearest building's roof.

Two beer taps were left open allowing all of the draft beer to drain out. Two beer bottles and two mugs were found on the bar which had not been there when the restaurant closed.

An undetermined quantity of food was stolen from the kitchen.

Youth held in burglary

A 19-year-old Granite City youth was to be charged today with burglary following his arrest at 5:30 a.m. Saturday inside the Wayside Tavern, 2160 Washington Ave.

Police allegedly found the youth lying behind the bar at the tavern where they had gone in response to a telephone report that a burglary was in progress.

Officers said they found a window in a front door broken when they arrived and entered the tavern. As they did so, one of the officers said he heard bottles rattling and went to the end of the bar where they found the youth.

The tavern operator, Faye Schneider, was called and she said she believed nothing had been taken. A paper bag containing four packages of cigarettes was found on the end of the bar.

Charge five youths after disturbance

A 15-year-old girl was charged as a juvenile with aggravated battery and four boys, two of them juveniles, were charged with curfew violations as the results of a disturbance at the Jack-in-the Box, 3330 Nameoki Road, at 4:15 a.m. Sunday.

Police said they were called to the restaurant after a girl reportedly was struck on the head in a fight.

Officers said they questioned the 15-year-old girl who had been identified as the assailant, and four boys who were with her.

All five were taken to police headquarters where the girl was named on a city charge. Two of the boys charged with curfew violations were David Wood, 18, of 4505 Walters St., and Mike Gancheff, 17, of 3108 E d g e w o o d Drive.

Four hurt in 2-car crash

Four persons were injured when the southbound auto of William Morris, 26, of 1633 Fifth St., Madison, and the eastbound car of Paula Milton, 5 Lakeview Drive, Ponton Beach, collided at Nameoki Road and Madison Avenue at 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

Police noted the traffic signals were flashing yellow for Nameoki Road traffic and red for Madison Avenue traffic at the time. Paula Milton was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

Taken by Granite City ambulances to St. Elizabeth Hospital were Morris and two members of his family, and Paula Milton. A passenger in her car accompanied her to the hospital, but said she was not injured.

Morris suffered back pains and abrasions to his left forearm. X-rays were taken and he was released. Mrs. Minnie Morris, 26, of the same address, reported being dazed after striking her head. She was treated for a two-inch cut to the right side of her face and an abrasion to her right knee and was admitted after x-rays were taken.

Stolen pickup truck recovered

A pickup truck stolen between Aug. 3 and Saturday in the 2800 block Cayuga Street from Frank Cooper of Greenport, Mo., was recovered Saturday morning in the 2400 block of Ohio Street.

Granite City police questioned two young boys and a girl in connection with the theft and one of the boys was instructed to report to juvenile authorities.

Bubblemaster dive Labor Day weekend

Labor Day weekend spearfishing contests and an annual picnic and fall banquet will be among the projects discussed by the Granite City Bubblemasters Scuba Diving Club at a meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the Tri-City Area YMCA.

Phil Lamm, president, said qualified divers and prospective divers are being invited to attend the meeting and become acquainted with the club's activity schedule.

The Labor Day weekend competitive dive will take place Sept. 3, 4 and 5 at the Pontiac dock on Bush Shoals Lake in Missouri. Contests will feature both scuba and skin spearfishing.

Bubblemasters plan to hold their traditional "auction" event at the dive, with proceeds earmarked for Christmas food and gift baskets to help families in need. Lamm advised.

Contests sponsored during the three-day dive probably will determine the outcome of the "spoonman of the year" awards program.

Current standings, listing points accumulated by the divers during the summer months, show Larry Earnsey, Randy Viessman, Phil Lamm, Rich Grizzard and Tom Mueller as the top five divers.

Miss Dana Depew, 16, recorded the biggest fish speared in July, with a 14-pound carp.

A date for the annual picnic has not been set, but the location will be at Kendall Hill Park in Wood River.

Tainted butter recalled

Whipped butter manufactured by Beatrice Foods in Chicago and sold under several brand names is being recalled due to the possibility of illness from the butter.

Several cases of extreme nausea and vomiting have been traced to the contaminated butter, but the contamination is not considered deadly.

The whipped butter is sold under several brand names, including Prairie Farms, A&P, Sugar Creek, Meadow Gold and others.

Being recalled are all brands manufactured by Beatrice Foods which are dated on or before Sept. 12.

A spokesman at Prairie Farms Dairy, Inc. here said the problem primarily involved butter distributed to restaurants in 16-pound tubs.

Illinois public health officials reported approximately 70 cases of food poisoning had been traced to the contaminated butter Thursday and Friday. Thirty-three illnesses were reported in St. Louis where the origin of the illness was traced to use of the butter in seven restaurants.

H. Clifford Mitchell, director of environmental services of St. Louis County, said the restaurants cooperated in tracing the butter. He said also that Prairie Farms in Granite City cooperated in recalling possibly contaminated tubs from its customers.

The butter is processed at a Beatrice Foods plant in St. Louis, Tenn., under the Sugar Creek trade name.

Sanitary district buys 2 tractors

The Metro-East Sanitary District Board Thursday awarded a contract for the purchase of two heavy tractors to pull grass-cutting equipment. The equipment was purchased from the ERB Equipment Co. of Mitchell on a low bid for either the sale or rental of heavy equipment.

Purchase was made on an offer of $12,500. The board is scheduled to meet Tuesday at 10 a.m. and again Thursday at 10 a.m. Both meetings will be held in the East St. Louis office.

Merger official

H. J. Burkert Jr., Chief, Public Affairs Office, today clarified the status of the merger of the Aviation Systems Command (AVSCOM) and the Troop Support Command (TSCOM) in St. Louis.

"Some have felt that the merger of these commands is being held up. The fact is that they have already been officially merged."

"The actions which are being delayed pending Congressional approval of funds relate to the renovation of buildings at the Federal Center."

"Both AVSCOM and TSCOM were disestablished on July 1, 1977."

"The logistics elements (supply and maintenance) of both commands were combined to form a new command, the Troop Support and Aviation Material Readiness Command (TSARCAM)."

"The research and development sections of the former AVSCOM became another new command, the Aviation Research and Development Command (AVRADCOM)."

"The Mart Building will be vacated over a period of 18 months and personnel will be moved to the Federal Center as soon as buildings are renovated to house them."

Both high schools are open daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. for registration. There will be no registration between Saturday and Aug. 22 in the high schools.

Junior high school students new to the district may register starting Wednesday through Friday at GCHS North and GCHS South.

Registration will be from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. through Aug. 14 in the junior high schools.

New elementary school students will not register until Aug. 22. Persons having questions about registration, or which school they will attend may call the school board office at 876-6600.

Roussins will hold 'roundup'

Roussin Roundup time is just around the corner, Aug. 10, and all members of this ancient organization (dating back to the 1400s) are being urged to attend the annual convocation to be held as usual, on the picnic grounds of St. Stephen's Church at Richwoods, Mo. Many reside in this area.

It starts off with a basket dinner on tables in the shelter house, with everybody sharing and visiting while eating. Then the contests start, featuring this year the man with the most holes in his socks; woman with the most spectacular dress (from rags to riches); and cash prize of $5 for the one responsible for the most new members (who have never attended before), helping to make this year's roundup the biggest.

The standard prizes, as given annually, will also be awarded at this time for the oldest married and the oldest woman, youngest boy, youngest girl, couple longest wed, couple most recently married and the one coming the farthest. Then the men will repair to their favored spot to pitching.

Youngsters will get involved in a number of contests and the ladies will take "time out" for visiting.

Two appeals are stressed this year, as emphasized by this roundup's president, Virgil Nicholson of Osage Beach, Mo. They are "come early" and "stay late," providing greater opportunity for getting acquainted and tracing genealogy with distant cousins. Interest along this line has been mounting within the Roussins because of the work of a kinsman, David Euseldor, who is compiling the "Book of Roussin," a "Roots" version of this French family, in his Hollywood, Calif., headquarters.

TOOLS, STEREO TAKEN

The left vent window was broken in the van of Leroy Metzger, 2145 Cleveland Blvd., by thieves who took tools, a stereo valued at $300 and a tape player valued at $195. The theft occurred between 10 p.m. Saturday and 12:05 a.m. Sunday while the van was parked in front of his home.

'Big band' discount for senior citizens

A special appearance by local big band veteran Buddy Moreno and a special 30 percent discount for senior citizens are among the attractions for the Big Band Sounds from the "Summer of '42 night" at the Mississippi River Festival on Friday on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The evening features Tex Benke and his orchestra, as well as big band notables Helen O'Connell and Bob Eberly.

Moreno, a radio personality and program director, has been a big band leader since 1947, touring the country as well as playing locally. He sang with the Harry James Band during World War Two on the Beltinger Radio show when Chesterfield replaced the absent Glenn Miller on that show. Since that time, Moreno has worked with his own band.

Benke got his start when he was recommended for the Glenn Miller Orchestra by Gene Krupa. After spending time with the tenor saxophone, he was asked to sing by Miller and did, making "I'm a Fool for You" a major hit.

"Kalamazoo," "Chattanooga Choo Choo," and other followed before World War Two and Miller's death intervened. Following the war, Benke put Friday on the band that was given permission to use Miller's arrangements, and success with that sound followed.

Eberly, started with the Dorsey brothers, and stayed with Jimmy Dorsey after the two brothers separated. Eberly, too, had his career interrupted by World War Two, after he had started a string of hits that saw him reach the top of the charts in 1942 and 1943. His style as a big-band vocalist fits in with the arrangements used by Benke.

O'Connell is the third of the big stars from the '40s who has made it big again in the '70s, following her start with the Dorsey Glee Club before World War Two.

Comedy, 'rock' to be featured on Channel 9

The St. Louis premiere of the British situation comedy, Fawcett Towers, and the return of the popular British rock musical, Rock Follies, are two of the highlights of the August fundraising week on Channel 9.

Fawcett Towers, premiering at 10 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 21, and continuing at 10:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 22, through Friday, Aug. 26, features John Cleese of Monty Python fame. He portrays Basil Fawcett, a rude and inept proprietor of a small English hotel.

Cleese created this six-part situation comedy with his wife, actress Connie Booth, who plays an art student working her way through college in the dining hall at Fawcett Towers. The co-stars include Prunella Scales as Sybil Fawcett and Robin Ellis, currently starring in the "Masterpiece Theatre" series, "Goldark."

The weeknight episodes of Fawcett Towers will be followed by Rock Follies, beginning at 11:10 p.m. Monday through Friday. Bringing the light-hearted series of 1980s musicals to a contemporary setting, Rock Follies traces the lives of three women trying to establish musical careers as a rock singing group.

The five-part series follows the path of the trio through a continuous string of personal and professional crises in their climb toward stardom. The entire series will be repeated in a marathon broadcast at 12:15 a.m. Friday, Aug. 26.

Beach Boys to perform here in benefit concert

The Beach Boys have been scheduled for a special season-closing benefit concert at the Mississippi River Festival, held on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, on Sunday, Aug. 21, it was announced Friday by Festival Director Lyle Ward.

The special MRF benefit performance follows the final night of the three-evening performance of "Shakespeare's People," starring Sir Michael Redgrave, Aug. 18, 19 and 20, which had previously been slated to end the 1977 summer season.

"We are pleased to be able to have the Beach Boys return to the Festival," said Ward. "After some weeks of negotiations over date availability and technical requirements, everything is finally falling into place. We have just received the confirming telegram."

The Beach Boys, consistently at the forefront of American rock music since their first hit in 1962, are considered the architects of some of rock's major styles.

They have not only had a lengthy list of hit singles and albums of their own, but have had an influence on most of rock's trends since the mid 1960s.

Their hits range from the early surfing and hot rod successes of "Surfin' U.S.A." and "I Get Around" through the innovative "Good Vibrations" and on to a current album, "The Beach Boys Love You," that has received high critical praise from Rolling Stone magazine and others.

Ward added that Brian Wilson, the leader and writer for the group, will be with the group on the MRF date. Ticket prices for the special evening are $5.50 for the lawn and $6, $7 and $8 for reserved seating.

Total admission to the site will be limited to 15,000 patrons, and Ward advised festivalgoers to get their requests in early. He also reminded patrons that alcohol and glass containers are prohibited at the Festival site.

Burglary charge

Harold Marvin Wright, 18, of the 1100 block of Bissell St., Venice, has been named in an informational document from the Madison County state's attorney's office alleging burglary.

Wright allegedly entered the home of Carolyn Williams, 1109 Bissell Ave., April 14. A stereo, a clock radio and two television sets were stolen. His bond was set at $5,000, but was released after posting $200 cash.

Charge 2 in Informations

Leonard R. DeClue, 17, of the 2100 block of Bryan Ave., and Samuel M. Nicola, 18, of Kirkpatrick Homes, have been named in an informational document from the Madison County state's attorney's office alleging burglary.

Both are charged with breaking into the home of Robert Niesporek, 2403 Iowa St., June 22. Nicola also is charged with a second count of burglary for allegedly burglarizing the home of Al Damal, 2805 E. 24th St., June 20.

The pair and a 14-year-old boy were arrested June 22 after Niesporek returned home and found a youth in the doorway to the rear door of his house, which had been burglarized and a pistol and knife were missing.

The youth left and joined another on the street. Niesporek ran after them and requested they return to his home while he called police and the pair complied. A knife reported taken from Niesporek's pocket, allegedly was found in DeClue's pocket.

35 BAC courses at Madison High

Thirty-five general studies and credit courses will be offered during the fall semester at the Madison Extension Center of Belleville Area College.

Registration will take place at Madison High School, Sixth and Farish streets, Madison, from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 10 and Aug. 11, and Monday, Aug. 15 through Thursday, Aug. 18.

Additional information concerning the courses may be obtained after 6 p.m. on the registration dates by calling Charles Steptoe, BAC coordinator, at 876-7010, or going to the high school in person.

Classes will start the week of Aug. 22 and continue through Dec. 15, with final examinations held the week of Dec. 10 to Dec. 15.

Registration will conclude Aug. 17 for credit courses and on the first day of class in the general studies courses.

Senior citizens living in Madison may be eligible to attend classes at reduced cost, but should check with the coordinator at the time of registration.

Steptoe also explained that high school seniors may take general studies or credit courses with the consent of their principal.

Fees for the general studies courses are payable at the time of registration. Credit courses fees will be billed to the individual by BAC at a later date.

A general rule of thumb for credit courses would be a one time $10 registration fee and then $11 per credit hour.

Withdrawing procedures for students registered in credit courses and the return of a portion of the fees, as explained by Steptoe, show students are required to report in person at the registrar's office and complete a form, or must notify the office in writing of their intent to withdraw, with the postmark date determining the date of withdrawal.

Tuition fees returned to withdrawing students are prorated from 80 per cent of the fees during the first week, Aug. 22 to Aug. 26, to 20 per cent on the fourth week, Sept. 12 to Sept. 16. No refunds are given after the fourth week of classes.

General studies students completing registration and then deciding to withdraw must contact the local BAC coordinator for specific information.

Credit courses available at the Madison BAC Extension Center are:

- Elementary Spanish I;
- Health, First Aid, Medical Self-Help; and Instructional Resources, Services and Records I. The latter two are under the Teacher Aide Education program.

General Studies courses, include:

- Home Air Conditioning and Refrigeration; Beginning and Intermediate Sewing; Upholstery; Beginning Astrology; Interior Design; Woodworking and Furniture Refinishing.

Establish fund for boy struck by train

A fund set up to assist the family of Lonnie Lester, 15, who was struck and severely injured on March 16, "has done remarkably well in the short time since the fund was created," a member of his family reported last week.

Young Lester still is listed only in satisfactory condition at Firmin Desloge Hospital, where he is in a semi-conscious condition.

A fund has been established at the Granite City First National Bank, according to the Rev. Dewey Garner of the Church of God in Madison, the injured boy's grandfather. Rev. Garner said donations may be mailed to Post Office Box Y, Granite City. His phone number is 931-4471.

As of Friday, the fund had received more than $300, including a $148 contribution by the Union Chapel Pentecostal Church of Caseyville, Rev. Garner said.

Rev. Garner said that while the boy's parents have insurance that covers part of the hospital cost, bills so far total more than $70,000, leaving the family with a debt of over $20,000, which is steadily increasing.

Two charged with burglary

Joseph L. Vandergriff, 19, of the 2500 block of Washington Avenue, and James C. Stewart Jr., 20, of 2301 E. 23rd St., have been named in informational documents from the Madison County state's attorney's office alleging burglary.

It is alleged the two broke into the mobile home of Al Williams, 2301 E. 23rd St., lot 15, June 13 and removed a citizens' band radio, power pack and two microphones, a camera and a clock. All of the stolen items were recovered.

STEAMLINE REPLACEMENT. A lone worker welds a section of the nearly 1,000 feet of four-inch steamline which is being replaced between the boilers of Granite City High School South and the Coolidge Junior High building complex. The line reduces in size from the six-inch line visible at the bottom of the picture in this view looking north from near the South cafeteria. Part of the Coolidge buildings can be seen in the upper right. The steamlines being replaced furnish heat to the junior high during the winter months. (Press-Record Photo)

Temple Israel scene of Schermer-Grieve wedding

Miss Linda Ann Grieve of Decatur, Ill., and David Ray Schermer of Granite City were united in marriage Saturday evening at Temple Israel in Creve Coeur, Mo.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 were Rabbi Joseph Klein and Father Kenneth Becker, assistant pastor of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church here.

A selected program of organ and violin music was played prior to the service.

The bride is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry (Kathleen) Grieve. She has made her home with her grandmother, Mrs. Raymond Stengel, 2148 W. Riverview, Decatur.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Avery Schermer, 2600 Edison Ave.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her cousin, James Stengel, the bride wore an ivory polyester knit gown fashioned with an Empire bodice, lavishly accented with Alencon and Venise lace motifs and etched with pearls.

The decorative lace trim formed the high, stand-up collar and defined the sheer yoke. Lace appliques enhanced the bell-sleeve sleeves and created deep cuffs at the wrists.

Her A-line skirt was designed with an attached cathedral length train. She wore a lace halo headpiece to secure a lace bordered veil of bridal illusion, and she carried a bouquet of roses, carnations and daisies in three shades of blue.

Carrie Brown, a cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She was dressed in a pastel blue eyelet frock made with short puff sleeves, trimmed with a white eyelet braid. She carried a white wicker basket filled with blue and white blossoms.

The groom chose his brother, Herman Schermer, as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Kyle Tarpoff, Scott Schneider, Steve Miller, Gary Loy, Craig Slattery and Tom Grieve, a brother of the bride.

Pam Stengel, the bride's cousin, presided over the guest book at a reception held at the Sheraton Westport Plaza Hotel, St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Schermer, parents of the groom, hosted a rehearsal dinner on Thursday evening at a St. Louis restaurant.

The bride, a 1973 graduate of St. Teresa High School in Decatur was graduated in June from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau social sorority and Psi Chi Scholastic honorary sorority.

A 1973 graduate of Granite City High School, the groom also graduated from SIUE. Presently, he is managing Schermer's Market in Pontoon Beach.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the newly married couple will reside in Granite City.

State workers on public aid

Illinois Comptroller Michael J. Bakalis confirmed Thursday that he has turned over the names of 2,148 state employees who are receiving public aid payments to Public Aid Director Arthur F. Quern and the director of the Department of Law Enforcement, Tyrone C. Fahner.

"Certainly, it must be pointed out that many of these people are participating in the public aid program with good justification," Bakalis said.

"Some state employees have low enough salaries or are working part-time and are indeed eligible for public aid."

"However, it is likely that many of these 2,148 are participating in the public aid program illegally," he charged.

Bakalis said he and the two directors are cooperating in an investigation of state employees who are receiving public aid payments while drawing a salary with the state.

The cooperation among the agencies has already produced computer reports which could provide the basis for a complete investigation.

The initial computer match-up involved records on more than 500,000 present public aid recipients and approximately 116,000 state employees.

With the reports which were turned over to the cooperating agencies, investigation of cases where fraud is likely to be involved can be pursued, Bakalis said.

As conclusive evidence on each case is developed, it will be turned over to the appropriate state's attorney for possible prosecution.

The five agencies with the highest incidence of state employees who are also drawing welfare checks are:

Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, 413; Public Aid, 353; Illinois Community College System, 278; University of Illinois, 143; Labor, 117.

Other agencies showed considerably less frequency. Bakalis said the study revealed two employees in his own office were receiving welfare payments.

The comptroller said that a thorough study is being made in those two cases to see if any fraud is involved. "If there has been misrepresentation of the facts, those employees will be dismissed," he said.

As a result of this initial investigation, Comptroller Bakalis is now preparing specific recommendations for the Department of Public Aid which he said will insure continuous monitoring of all public aid payments to detect any future violations of the law by state employees.

Illinois Department of Law Enforcement Director Fahner warned Thursday that "premature release of information stemming from a welfare fraud audit" may hamper the successful prosecution of offenders.

Fahner said he and Quern, director of the Department of Public Aid, will report their findings of a five-month investigation to Governor Thompson later this month.

However, Fahner said early release of information relative to the investigation could "virtually destroy our chances of prosecution in some cases."

Fahner said he and Quern began their audit of fraud detection procedures in the Department of Public Aid at the governor's direction in February.

"As a small part of our audit, we asked the comptroller to make available his state payroll computer tapes to be run against our public aid rosters. He refused."

"Instead, he told us he would run the computer cross-check himself, using Public Aid's tapes," Fahner said.

Today, the comptroller issued a press release which began, prematurely, to detail the results of the cross checks and to sensationalize them.

"I am surprised that the comptroller would do that. Director Quern and I met with him last Thursday and we all agreed that any premature releases of information would be unprofessional, because it could jeopardize any prosecutions that might flow from our work."

"In reality, only a small percentage — 10 per cent at most — of the 2,000 names which showed up on the cross-check are likely to be involved in welfare fraud, based on the experience in previous investigations."

"Most of them, based on the experience the Department of Law Enforcement had in working on the U.S. attorney's case related to federal employees, probably are not receiving public aid fraudulently."

"For the comptroller to imply that 'many of these 2,148 employees are participating in the public aid program illegally,' is purely an assumption and a premature one at that," Fahner said.

"There are many variables in the welfare system and the cross check is not limited enough for us to know anything about what percentage of those found to be receiving both welfare payments and state payroll checks are doing so wrongfully," he said.

Fahner cited cooperation in the audit by many public aid employees, especially case workers, as being instrumental in the success of the investigation so far.

"The five agencies with the highest incidence of state employees who are also drawing welfare checks are:

Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, 413; Public Aid, 353; Illinois Community College System, 278; University of Illinois, 143; Labor, 117.

"Instead, he told us he would run the computer cross-check himself, using Public Aid's tapes," Fahner said.

Today, the comptroller issued a press release which began, prematurely, to detail the results of the cross checks and to sensationalize them.

"I am surprised that the comptroller would do that. Director Quern and I met with him last Thursday and we all agreed that any premature releases of information would be unprofessional, because it could jeopardize any prosecutions that might flow from our work."

"In reality, only a small percentage — 10 per cent at most — of the 2,000 names which showed up on the cross-check are likely to be involved in welfare fraud, based on the experience in previous investigations."

"Most of them, based on the experience the Department of Law Enforcement had in working on the U.S. attorney's case related to federal employees, probably are not receiving public aid fraudulently."

"For the comptroller to imply that 'many of these 2,148 employees are participating in the public aid program illegally,' is purely an assumption and a premature one at that," Fahner said.

"There are many variables in the welfare system and the cross check is not limited enough for us to know anything about what percentage of those found to be receiving both welfare payments and state payroll checks are doing so wrongfully," he said.

Fahner cited cooperation in the audit by many public aid employees, especially case workers, as being instrumental in the success of the investigation so far.

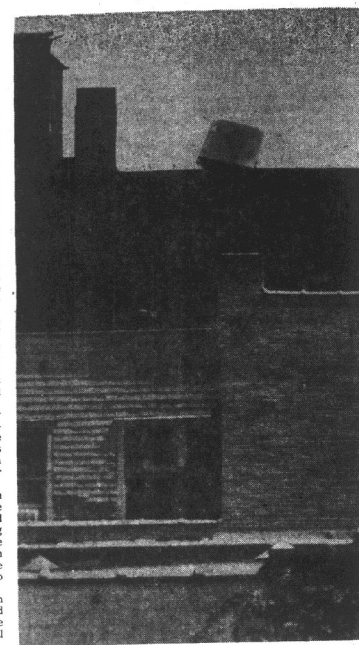

"The five agencies with the highest incidence of state employees who are also drawing welfare checks are:

Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities, 413; Public Aid, 353; Illinois Community College System, 278; University of Illinois, 143; Labor, 117.

Other agencies showed considerably less frequency. Bakalis said the study revealed two employees in his own office were receiving welfare payments."

The comptroller said that a thorough study is being made in those two cases to see if any fraud is involved. "If there has been misrepresentation of the facts, those employees will be dismissed," he said.

As a result of this initial investigation, Comptroller Bakalis is now preparing specific recommendations for the Department of Public Aid which he said will insure continuous monitoring of all public aid payments to detect any future violations of the law by state employees.

Alternative care for aged is funded

Department on Aging Director Josephine K. Oblinger announced Friday the award of $201,352 to an Alton agency to develop a comprehensive alternative care program to assure the availability of basic services to older Madison County residents.

Through the grant, Family Services and Visiting Nurse Association of the Alton-Wood River Region will provide homemaker, chore and health screening services closely linked with existing community programs.

The project will be designed to meet the multiple social and health needs of elderly persons who are in danger of institutionalization.

The program is one of three similar model projects to be funded by the department this year. The design is to demonstrate whether high risk older persons can be maintained in their own community and home environment through a highly coordinated community support system.

"Much of the health-related financial resources are currently being spent on institutional care, with little going for home-maintenance programs," said Mrs. Oblinger.

"We believe a comprehensive approach to services for frail and vulnerable older persons can meet human needs, and result in financial savings at the same time."

The two additional programs to be developed will be located in separate geographic areas of the state. Mrs. Oblinger said sites will be announced in the near future.

Choreographer for Lone Star musical

Talent, hard work and determination have paid off for Sherine Boyd, 26, daughter of Edward R. Boyd, 39 Villa Drive, Granite City.

As choreographer for "The Lone Star," the newest outdoor spectacular in the country, she has given the audience just a taste of her professional skills, reviewers say.

"The Lone Star" is Pulitzer Prize winner Paul Green's latest, most action-packed outdoor musical drama now playing in Galveston, Texas.

In her latest effort, Boyd combines movement and form to depict the dances of early Texas. Many hours of research went into making the dances as authentic as possible. Miss Boyd strives for perfection and "her dynamic performances show that she isn't far from it," reviewers report.

She has been dancing since age 15. Her experience as a professional theatrical and dance companies has spanned five years.

She has been a dancer and soloist with such professional dance companies as Concert Dance Company of St. Louis and Omega Productions and Image Productions of Salt Lake City.

Miss Boyd has danced in "Shenandoah," "Saturday's Warrior" and "Gypsy."

Last summer, she appeared in another outdoor drama, "Beyond the Sundown" near Livingston, Tex., and choreographed "Dark of the Moon," a canteen theatrical production.

Recently she was a guest performer with Jim Clouser's "Space-Dance-Theater," a professional dance company in Houston.

Beside being an accomplished dancer and choreographer, she has taught dancing at Rotana High School and Lewis and Clark Community College, Godfrey, in Illinois and at Brigham Young University in Utah.

She has also taught classes and choreographed pieces for the Checkerboard Squares at the Y-Rangerettes in Granite City.

"Dance technique and theory, advance choreography, modern, dance, jazz and children's creative dance are only a few of Miss Boyd's many specialties. She also possesses knowledge and understanding of body structure and muscle movement, so important to dancing," a reviewer has commented.

Miss Boyd received her bachelor of arts degree in theater and dance and in speech education from Southern Illinois University.

She did post-graduate work at Brigham Young University and is presently finishing work on her master's degree in dance at the University of Houston at Clear Lake City.

Second of two articles by R. Heath Larry, vice-chairman U.S. Steel Corporation.

Other industries can raise their prices, and unions can enforce inflationary settlements, with no Presidential notice. Not so for steel. We don't have that much impact on total price trends in the economy. But the media keeps the myth alive.

The industry is still smarting under the experience of 1973-74 when domestic steel prices were still under government surveillance.

In the face of extraordinary demand, only foreign producers were permitted to charge what the market would bring, often as much as $100 a ton more than the price level to which domestic steel producers were held.

One gains the feeling that for steel, the free market is a concept reserved only for foreign producers — whether they are pricing predatorily during a surplus or extortionately during a shortage.

Incidentally, the point should be well understood by those in the oil and gas business.

If the energy program develops as proposed, the government will remain in the pricing of both domestically produced gas and oil.

Only foreign sources will have freedom of the market — and consumers unable to satisfy their needs from domestic sources will pay dearly for what they acquire elsewhere.

It is hard to understand the Carter Administration's approach to energy pricing, which has been described variously as a program for "sacrifice without benefit," or a program for paying "more money to government for more money to the energy companies for more energy."

Some cynics have suggested it must have been designed to discourage development of new domestic sources as long as foreign sources remain available.

The steel industry, which is a tremendous user of energy, needs a better answer! A second myth which plagues steel is that it is an industry which does everything possible to avoid compliance with reasonable environmental requirements — one which virtually takes pleasure in flaunting the law.

Such an accusation ought to seem ridiculous on its face. Every steel company chief executive officer ought to be given credit for having at least enough sense to understand that he is not going to win any popularity contests by appearing to be dragged kicking and screaming into environmental compliance.

It is no way to improve one's image and gain the sympathy of the public.

And who should want to achieve those goals more than a steel executive? (1) plagued with a public hostile to his pricing problems and (2) concerned for public appreciation of the trade problems we are about to discuss.

So, even if he is looked at as a totally selfish rascal, the accusation doesn't stand up. The very nature of the steelmaking process produces massive cleanup problems.

And the steel industry has committed equally massive amounts of capital in an effort to fix them — $3 billion thus far.

But to meet currently mandated air and water pollution regulations for 1983 will require, in addition, about four times that expenditure — or more than a quarter of the industry's total projected capital needs for the period.

According to an Arthur Little study in 1975, the industry's capacity to generate the necessary cash internally to pay for these facilities would fall short by about $1.5 billion.

Little wonder that the Little Report observed that steel's ability to meet its present debt obligations and to attract capital is "already a critical national problem."

That takes us right back to the need to undo the myths about steel prices and profitability earlier mentioned.

If we have the money, and the technology, and understandable and reasonable standards, it ought to stand to reason that we'd rather be at finishing the job within the mandated time limits than hiring lawyers and paying fines.

But for the time being, reason seems not to be expected with respect to the steel industry's environmental problems, any more than in the pricing and profitability problems.

Not, in truth, with respect to its trade problems to which I want to turn your attention.

Implicit in my earlier comments has been a complaint about government intervention in the market.

Our government is not alone in this, to be sure. Other governments have long practiced much more intervention than ours, as responsibility for the health of their domestic economies was thrust upon them by internal political pressures.

We have much the same pressures developing today in the U. S. Here, the current intensity of the debate as to how much of the free market we must compromise in favor of government management of the economy.

Europe and Japan, the principal sources of imports in steel, have gone much further than we have.

I point this up because the interrelationship of price and independence of nations today is such that no nation can do much managing of its internal economy without having real impact on its neighbors.

And since most nations deem both the product and the employment provisions for steel industries to be basic to the health of their economies, the impact shows up very strongly in steel trade.

At least two facts have become obvious.

One is that the domestic steel industry is being seriously injured by the continuing flood of lower-priced imports. The other is that the nation's trade balance remains much too negative for the continuing health of the nation.

What seems not so obvious — at least remains subject to great controversy — is what, if anything, should be done about them.

How often do we hear the question: Should not the American steel industry have the element of foreign competition to spur it toward better efficiency and more competitive prices?

Put that simply, the answer would have to be an equally simple "yes." But it is neither realistic nor fair to put it that simply.

So much of the foreign competition is more a reflection of foreign government's efforts at management of their economies toward a high level of employment or toward a favorable exchange posture — than it is of any natural competitive advantage.

This complicates the answer to the simple question. Even worse, our nation is also trying to manage toward a higher level of employment, sometimes risking inflationary consequences in the process.

Thus, we can no more tolerate a trade flow which is being manipulated by other political economies to our disadvantage than an exchange rate relationship which is being similarly manipulated.

But for some reason our government seems much more ready to confront the latter than the former.

I am sure you have heard the steel industry accused of opposing governmental intervention in the domestic market, while inviting it with respect to international trade.

For the reasons I have outlined, there is nothing inconsistent in that posture. If injury is being caused to U. S. industry or U. S. citizens by other governments, surely the government should be redressed and our government must be the mechanism to do it.

We have long urged it to do so — preceding administrations as well as this one.

So, when little seemed to be happening, we began to resort to some of the remedies accorded us under the Trade Act of 1974.

The recent cynically caustic remarks by some government officials about our doing so makes one indeed wonder whether we are still dealing with Europe and Japan on a Marshall Plan basis, but haven't been officially told.

We in the steel industry are strongly urging our government to get on with sectoral negotiations for steel — to that fair trade and free trade conditions in steel may, hopefully, emerge once again.

From that, we need somebody with intellect and curiosity to come up with something ingenious.

For example, a part of creating parity of opportunity might be an effort to develop a partial equivalent to the value added tax approach used by the principal foreign steel-producing countries so much to our detriment.

Someone might conceive a way to tote up all forms of employment taxes, including at least Social Security and Unemployment Compensation taxes — for they are, in effect, the taxes on the labor involved in producing a product.

They might relate them to the product, based on the approximate dollars of labor cost contained in it, and then remit that amount on all such products exported, and charge a border tax of similar amount on similar products which come into our market and displace an equivalent amount of labor.

Surely, even the most uncompromising free-traders could find little fault in attempting something so little different from what many other nations do now.

The point is that something needs to be done now not three to five years from now.

We live in a dream world if we believe the pragmatic, political managers abroad are practicing free trade.

As a little more like them, we just might be able to develop a movement back toward something more like free trade than is now visible.

It is often said these days that if some of the uncertainty of government direction could be removed, the economy might begin to move ahead again on its own.

In the case of steel, I suggest we already have too much certainty, but of the wrong kind. It is certain that unless our government develops a more benign attitude toward the domestic steel industry, its price and profit problems, its environmental problems, and its trade problems — its future as a privately-owned industry will grow increasingly bleak.

Fortunately, a few hopeful signs are emerging — like the concerns for orderly steel trade expressed at the London Summit — but we need more.

Without them, the next 40 years may see the end of privately-owned steel in America and many of our most cherished freedoms as well.

As I conclude, I don't want to be understood as putting all the burden on political leadership.

We know that persons in position of political leadership cannot always do what makes the most economic sense. Broad-based popular understanding and support becomes a vital ingredient.

We have a way to go in achieving it in respect to steel problems.

In the past, we have contributed to our own credibility gap — no question about it.

But I see leadership in steel working out today like they have never done before — identifying their goals with the broad public interest, taking the risks of exposure to the media, getting their feet increasingly wet in the political process, stripping themselves of mystery before students and faculty in the academic community, sharing their views with, and learning the views of, their employees, in the realization that they are fully as important as voters as they are producers.

To sum up, I have tried to identify private ownership of basic industry as a fundamental risk of exposure to the media, prerequisite to retaining some of our most basic freedoms.

I have tried to identify several risks of challenges to the steel industry as being relevant in that context. I have identified steel's leadership as being aware of its duty to achieve broader popular understanding of its motives, its problems and its future.

If that popular understanding doesn't grow, it won't be because we haven't tried. If it grows enough, we may again see political leadership ignoring short-range nostrums, and displaying instead a sense of destiny — and concern for posterity.

That is precisely what it will take to avoid a freedom crisis within the next 40 years.

One final word: We are all in this together. We hope all will be helping, too.

But I see leadership in steel working out today like they have never done before — identifying their goals with the broad public interest, taking the risks of exposure to the media, getting their feet increasingly wet in the political process, stripping themselves of mystery before students and faculty in the academic community, sharing their views with, and learning the views of, their employees, in the realization that they are fully as important as voters as they are producers.

To sum up, I have tried to identify private ownership of basic industry as a fundamental risk of exposure to the media, prerequisite to retaining some of our most basic freedoms.

I have tried to identify several risks of challenges to the steel industry as being relevant in that context. I have identified steel's leadership as being aware of its duty to achieve broader popular understanding of its motives, its problems and its future.

If that popular understanding doesn't grow, it won't be because we haven't tried. If it grows enough, we may again see political leadership ignoring short-range nostrums, and displaying instead a sense of destiny — and concern for posterity.

That is precisely what it will take to avoid a freedom crisis within the next 40 years.

One final word: We are all in this together. We hope all will be helping, too.

problems — its future as a privately-owned industry will grow increasingly bleak.

Fortunately, a few hopeful signs are emerging — like the concerns for orderly steel trade expressed at the London Summit — but we need more.

Without them, the next 40 years may see the end of privately-owned steel in America and many of our most cherished freedoms as well.

As I conclude, I don't want to be understood as putting all the burden on political leadership.

We know that persons in position of political leadership cannot always do what makes the most economic sense. Broad-based popular understanding and support becomes a vital ingredient.

We have a way to go in achieving it in respect to steel problems.

In the past, we have contributed to our own credibility gap — no question about it.

LOFTY DRIVING TASK confronts motorists as they leave the higher level of Stratford Lane to descend toward Maryville Road, which has been excavated prior to being paved with four lanes of concrete. A metal grid to

New procedures on GI Bill education benefits

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Max Cleland has put his agency on alert status to smooth the transition to new procedures in issuing millions of dollars monthly in GI Bill education benefit checks to veterans.

In a conference call with directors of 56 Veterans Administration regional offices, Cleland ordered a review of all steps in the process between registration and payment of benefits to one million GI Bill students.

The VA directors were told to augment campus mailing to assist schools in the certification process.

School administrators have been asked by Cleland to extend help to veterans in light of the payments change. A massive publicity campaign has been aimed by the VA at the veterans themselves in an attempt to make all concerned aware of the new payment procedures.

Cleland's nationwide effort resulted from the decision by Congress last year to end educational payments at the beginning of each month.

The law also ended automatic advance payments of as much as two months' benefits at the beginning of a school term. These must now be requested by the student.

The monthly prepayments resulted in overpayment of benefits when some schools and students failed to notify the VA of student dropouts or nonattendance.

The last prepayment benefits were paid in May. Continuing students received allowances for June on July 1.

Cleland has now directed attention to the fall enrollment and new advance pay procedures. Regional office directors were told "to take every possible step to assure that each veteran student is aware of new payment procedures."

"I don't want a single veteran to be surprised," Cleland said. "I want this change to be accomplished as smoothly as was the end of the monthly prepayments. I am confident that with maximum cooperation between the VA, school officials and the veterans, we can make the switch without undue hardship."

If a student requests advance payment of the first month—or of attendance, plus the following month, and the school agrees to process it, the normal interval until the first recurring VA check is received will be 80-85 days.

Cleland urged students to analyze what the change will mean to their individual budgets and to plan for any gap in their benefit payments.

"Since advance payments for the beginning of the next school term are no longer automatic, anyone wishing to apply for them should do so as early as possible," he said, "allowing for a 30-day processing period."

Students who can't find needed campus jobs should inquire about VA's work-study program, Cleland advised.

The VA chief urged students having questions to contact their veterans representative on campus or the nearest VA office.

Charitable trust post to Scott

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has been appointed chairman of the Committee on Charitable Trusts and Solicitations of the National Association of Attorneys General.

Announcement of the appointment was made by the association's president, Theodore L. Sendak, attorney general of Indiana.

Scott's Division of Charitable Trusts and Solicitations is regarded by many as one of the more effective such operations in the nation. It regulates more than $1 billion in funds contributed to charitable causes by Illinois citizens.

The division seeks to exercise vigilance to assure that the bulk of money purportedly collected for worthy causes actually goes to that cause. The division also protects the integrity of charitable bequests made from the estates of Illinois citizens.

In recent years, this division established the premise in court that a "not-for-profit" operation which operates under the aura of a charitable organization by virtue of its name or manner of representation to the public must register with the attorney general's office as if it were a "not-for-profit" operation.

Scott also is an active member of the association's Executive Committee and Committees on Consumer Protection and Environmental Control.

Interpreters, teletypes called vital communication links for deaf people

Leon Hudson of Granite City has returned from the National Leadership Deaf Project sponsored jointly by the National Association of the Deaf and Gallaudet College for the Deaf with a variety of new insights.

The leadership training was held at the Campus of Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C. Twenty participants were chosen nationwide.

Hudson was chosen to represent Illinois. Director of the project was Al Pimental of Washington.

Leadership dynamics, public relations, public library services, legal aspects of deafness, local community resources and captioned films and television programs for the deaf were among the subjects of the workshop.

Highlights of the week included a trip to the Public Broadcasting Service, Washington, where the participants were greeted by Doris Caldwell, coordinator of programs for the hearing impaired, and a visit to each participant's individual senators and congressmen.

Senator Charles Percy of Illinois has a telephone-teletype in his office by which he can communicate by phone with the deaf.

Special guest lecturers during the week of activities included Fred Schrieber, executive secretary, National Association of the Deaf, Sy DuBois, legal counsel from the National Center on Law and the Deaf. Dr. Edward Merrill, president of Gallaudet College, Dr. Malcolm Norwood, chief, Captioned Films and Telecommunications Branch, BEH.

Patricia Forsythe, Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, Charlie Hill, executive director of Professional Rehabilitation Workers with Adult Deaf, Millie Naisel, secretary, International Association of Parents of Deaf.

Dr. George Fellenz, executive director of the Alexander Graham Bell Association; Carl Kirchner, president, National Registry of Interpreters; Dr. Boyce Williams, director, Office of Deafness and Communication Disorders, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Yerkel Anderson, of the World Federation of the Deaf.

Hudson said that one of the most impressive aspects of the week was the fact that interpreters were highly skilled and, therefore, the deaf participants were able to follow the program with ease.

Many of the speakers were fluent in total communication—the use of speech, lip reading and signs combined—thus eliminating the communication handicap of the deaf.

Another aspect was the availability of TTY (telephone-teletype) units, making it possible for the deaf to use the phone to call home or other TTY owners.

Hudson said the fluency of total communication and the availability of interpreters made him feel that his handicap of deafness was insignificant while in Washington, D.C.

He believes this emphasized the need for more skilled interpreters and more TTY's in this region.

Leon Hudson has been totally deaf since the age of 18 months, due to high fever with spinal meningitis.

He functioned with those who have hearing almost totally until about four years ago, when he realized the impact that deafness had on his life.

He then became involved extensively with organizations working for improvement and better understanding of the deaf.

At present, two legislative bills are being stressed as of great importance to the deaf. One is Illinois Senate Bill 40, awaiting Gov. James R. Thompson's signature, which would provide interpreter training in Illinois, and U.S. H.R. 6711, which would mandate telephone-teletypes in hospitals, police stations and other public buildings.

The equity in your house is like money in your pocket.

Equity is the difference between how much your home is worth, and what you owe on it.

It's a valuable asset you can use to back a really big loan. For whatever you have in mind.

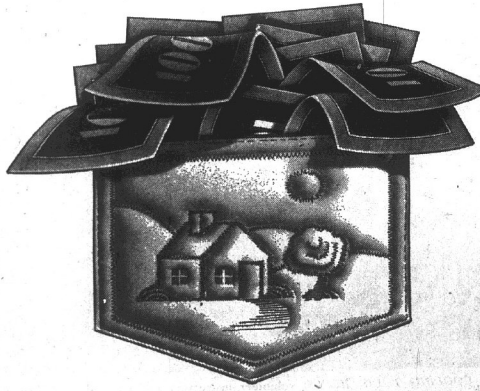

Real-estate values are up, up, up. So the house you bought just a few years ago probably would sell for a lot more than you paid.

Which means your equity is bigger. And the bigger your equity, the more you can borrow in a large real-estate loan. Right here. Right now.

Maybe the money you're looking for is already in the house.

Indians being interviewed

The Office of Native American Programs is sponsoring a project to gather information about American Indians and people of Indian descent living in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

"Since any programs and activities planned should be in response to the needs and interests of the Indian population, the participation of all Indians is important," a spokesman says.

"Confidential interviews are now being conducted at the American Indian Cultural Center of Mid-America, 3324 Gravois, by an outside research group. The interviews are being conducted between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

"For an interview appointment, or further information, interested parties may contact the Center at 773-7422 or 733-7477."

Astrology course at GC South

"Astrology Dynamics," a scientific astrology course, will be taught this fall during evening classes at Granite City High School South.

Registration for the course will be accepted Aug. 17, 18 and 19 at South High, or further information is available by calling 481-4683 in the daytime.

George Michael Kayich will teach the "Astrology Dynamics" course. He has been interested in astrology for 15 years and has studied with several astrologers, including the widely-known Sybil Leek.

Kayich, a Granite Cityan, currently is director of the Universal Scientific Astrology School and Club.

In the beginner course being offered at South High, participants will learn the basics of scientific astrology and how to set up an astrology chart, with some interpretations of the chart. An intermediate course will follow, consisting of interpretation of one's own chart and charts of other people. An advance course also will be available.

"We invite you to enroll in this special program of astrological studies and discover through it the meaning of human relations and the science of timing," Kayich said.

Only a limited number of students will be accepted in the course, the instructor said.

DEMONSTRATING NEWLY-LEARNED SKILLS Friday at the swimming pool of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bowler of Mockingbird Lane.

Physically handicapped youngsters and adults took part in swimming instruction sponsored by the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter. Thirty-one volunteers helped teach the 28 students.

Physically handicapped taught to swim here
as Red Cross service

Swimming instruction was conducted by the Tri-City Chapter, American Red Cross, at the private swimming pool of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bowler, 2609 Mockingbird Lane, for the physically handicapped. Students were enrolled from Granite City, Madison, Venice, Mitchell and Pontoon Beach as well as one student from Troy. The classes began July 11 and continued through Aug. 5, for a total of 26 lessons. In addition to awards for completing the instruction, regular Red Cross swimming certificates were earned by the following students: Rhonda Riggs and Jeffrey Kies—beginner certificate; Rhonda Riggs, advanced beginner; and Jeff Slaby, intermediate certificate.

Mrs. Mildred Meehan, executive secretary, said, "The swimming program completed the third year and the chapter is justifiably proud of the fact that it is one of the finest of its kind. This would not have been possible without the willingness of the volunteers in our local communities, the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Bowler for donating the use of their pool, and the excellent cooperation from the parents of all students involved. Miss Joanne Higgins, directed the entire program and trained all volunteers. The instruction has been nationally recognized by the American National Red Cross. It is an all-volunteer program, and instructors ranged from high school and college students to grandparents. The aquatic program is offered annually by the Tri-City Red Cross, an agency of the Tri-Cities Area United Way. Students of the Red Cross handicapped swim class of 1977 were Kenny Britz, Mike Cook, Mathew Crittendon, Tammie Duniphan, Tony Duniphan, Clifford Foreman, Jamie Garrison, Matt Gray.

Dane Gunerson, James Hoffman, Patricia Ann Keek, Jeff Kies, Norman Kinder, Mary Kosteck, Rusty Lijewski, Joanne Meehan, Sunday Pace, Martha Padgett, David Razor, Rhonda Riggs, Joe Schmiedake, Jeff Slaby, Cathy Smoot, Vickie Tankley, Jaimmy Taylor, Mary Ann Townes, Timothy Redstone and Pam Burnett. Indiana rights strategy proposed for this state

A workshop for people interested in working for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment in Illinois will be held Saturday, Aug. 13, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The workshop, entitled, "ERA Strategy Workshop: Indiana, Illinois, New York," is free and open to the public. According to SUE student Liz Neely of Madison, the workshop is sponsored by the Women's Studies Student Association at SIUE in conjunction with the SIUE NOW (National Organization for Women) Committee.

She said workshop participants will study the strategy used by ERA proponents in Indiana.

"We have invited people from Indiana who conducted the successful ERA ratification movement there in 1976," Miss Neely said. "They will tell us about their strategy and give us tips on how we can apply it to get the ERA passed in Illinois."

She said workshop participants should take a sack lunch for the all-day session. Those needing child care or more information on the workshop may call Barb Harris at 831-2854.

Steelworkers join in rally

Several Steelworkers from Granite City Steel participated in a rally Saturday at Pet, Inc. in St. Louis to show their support for 1,500 striking Teamsters of International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IBT) in Bridgeton. Pet owns the Hussian farm, which has been the target of a lengthy strike.

About 150 protesters moved from Pet to a 505 Liquor Store in St. Louis, which also is owned by Pet.

Hussian pickets noted Granite City Steel employees have offered much support to Teamsters. They donated hundreds of dollars to aid the strikers.

At Kent State University, students decided to hold a peaceful rally to show the administration the strength and numbers of students who opposed Mr. Nixon's decision.

During the rally, Ohio National Guardsmen advanced toward the protesters. Some students began to throw rocks at the helmeted guardsmen.

As the students advanced, the Ohio National Guard fired their rifles. Those who were shot or injured were taken to a nearby hospital. One student died.

Other guardsmen joined in the shooting. The aim was at a particular protester, but she shot at random into the crowd. Few people today, I believe, would disagree that the Vietnam War was also owned by Pet.

As the students advanced, the Ohio National Guard fired their rifles. Those who were shot or injured were taken to a nearby hospital. One student died.

Other guardsmen joined in the shooting. The aim was at a particular protester, but she shot at random into the crowd. Few people today, I believe, would disagree that the Vietnam War was also owned by Pet.

Hussian pickets noted Granite City Steel employees have offered much support to Teamsters. They donated hundreds of dollars to aid the strikers.

At Kent State University, students decided to hold a peaceful rally to show the administration the strength and numbers of students who opposed Mr. Nixon's decision.

During the rally, Ohio National Guardsmen advanced toward the protesters. Some students began to throw rocks at the helmeted guardsmen.

Serious delays at Rt. 162 crossing

To the Editor:
I have been watching the dangerous new Maryville Road traffic movement and, if it is already a problem, think what it will be when completed.

"Think of the traffic jam at Highway 162, where four lanes of highway will try to cross, including East 23rd Street. I think an overpass should be thought of now, plus a signal with left turn arrows at the meeting point."

Many times you can see cars waiting for the trains to get across and traffic is stopped to the Granite City Steel Coke Plant.

It takes as long to get an overpass over those three sets of tracks as it took to get one started anywhere, think of how many tragedies will happen.

I don't think it is going to be much of a time saver, much less safe.

I know these things should have been done years ago, but when things like highways get on a waiting list and then another waiting list for safety, more consideration should be given.

I have waited as much as 15 minutes at that crossing, and I know it will not change.

We have only one highway to get out of Granite City without crossing tracks and that is by Interstate 270.

No matter where the tracks are, one of three sets, they are rough-riding.

With all the traffic nowadays, it just seems that time, money or action cannot be taken to help these matters.

I hope something gets started and the crossing of Maryville Road at Highway 162 gets thought of soon, before too many tragedies occur.

because that spot of earth was made sacred by our Lord during his agony.

To those of us who believe our government unjustly killed four young Americans at Kent State University in 1970, to build a gym for playing is "sacrilege" because four young lives have been made ground sacred.

They were not shot because they threw rocks, but because they exercised their right to protest their governments protest by assembling with others.

The true heroes in America, during Vietnam were not those Americans who bore arms or remained silent, but those who raised their voice in outrage to the policies of Mr. Nixon's administration.

My spirit is with those people who non-violently sat on this "sacred" ground and were put in jail.

I believe our leaders have made a mistake to allow the construction of a gymnasium on the ground of the Kent State killings.

Sees electric rate hike as too steep

To the Editor:
The Illinois Power Co. is sure taking their consumer by surprise. My August bill was $206.87, another jump of $76.45, a grand total overall of $132 in a two month period.

They have nice, pat answers for you when you complain. It seems that something could be done.

Ancestral home becomes historic site

To the Editor:
We want to publicly thank Donna Hartwick for the fine article "The Pen and the Sword" in the June 30 issue of the Press-Record.

We are very proud of the article and the history.

Later that night, the same thing happened in the same place when Wallace, driver of Little Debbie Car No. 6, won his heat race and was told that No. 97 won. This was obvious that fans rose up in their seats in protest, but to no avail.

When the track announcer was confronted about this, all he could tell the raceway fans was, "I announce them; I don't call them." Evidently there was some doubt in his mind, too.

With such incidents occurring, it could make the people of Granite City look unprofessional and thus drive away many top out-of-town drivers.

Right of choice is vital to women

To the Editor:
The most common rallying cry of the Right to Life is "Abortion is the murder of an unborn child." To win people to this view, they use emotion-laden words in order to create the real issue of woman's right to control her own reproduction.

The fact is that no one is pro-abortion. We are for better education about proper methods of birth control.

No woman wants abortion as a method of birth control. Neither do women want the government to decide how their reproductive functions are controlled.

This is a personal matter for a mother and physician to decide. To take this right to choose away from women is to send women to butchers for fetal abortions. This in itself is a contradiction to the right to life.

There are over 16 million residents in Taiwan who have chosen not to join the Communist way of life.

They have developed a free enterprise system closely resembling that of the United States. They have contributed their share to the stability and prosperity of the free world's economy.

Taiwan's trade with the United States for 1976 alone was $4.8 billion in American dollars. President Carter pledged in his Presidential campaign to continue U.S. commitment to the security, freedom and independence of the people of Taiwan, and we commend him for it.

We support the opinion of the majority of the American public as revealed in recent opinion polls, that the United States should not abandon Taiwan despite our eagerness to establish diplomatic relations with Peking.

We believe that the freedom and security of Taiwan is in the best interests of the United States, and that our policy should be guided by this conviction.

AD HOC CONCERNED AMERICANS FOR ASIA-PACIFIC STABILITY AND PEACE

President unsympathetic to realities facing steelmakers

President Jimmy Carter ran for that office for several years and perhaps is becoming trapped as a policymaker in some of the extensive rhetoric of the long political campaign. Whatever the reason, he has chosen an inopportune time to pick a fight with steelmakers and their financial problems.

Mr. Carter — in reacting to six per cent price hikes on structural steel and seven per cent on tin mill products — is stepping up pressure on the already hard-pressed industry.

His apparent hope is to keep some companies from joining in the latest round of price increases, but he could have greater impact than that, much of it injurious.

The President on Friday ordered the Council on Wage and Price Stability to study steel price policies and costs and to report on what the government might do to moderate future price increases in prices.

He also ordered the Department of Defense and the General Services Administration to "buy steel wherever it is cheapest."

Two days earlier, a detailed review of steel economics here by Dr. Lillian Green, a National Steel Corporation and former Granite City Steel economist, had made the point that steelmakers for a number of years have failed to achieve the pricing level necessary for a healthy steel industry, one that is able to finance the kind of equipment and facilities development and acquisition vital for adequate capacity.

Reasons for this are numerous, most of them related to government actions at various times. The result is continuation of recession-related problems and the prospect of a worldwide steel shortage in the early 1980s, she told Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce directors.

The speaker and Granite City Steel President James V. Stack stressed American producers' willingness and ability to compete with foreign steelmakers if federal officials permit pricing freedom and enforce existing laws limiting free-price "dumping" of steel from abroad.

Imports began taking a dangerous new trend in May and are continuing at an alarming rate, Dr. Green reported.

The two officials disagree with the concept that domestic steel must bear special price strain and absorb whatever economic strains arise, whether natural or contrived, as in the case of European and Japanese steelmakers committed to full production no matter what losses occur to them and no matter what damage is done in the U.S. and around the world.

Sadly, one of those close to President Carter's ears, Charles Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, continues to repeat the cliché that almost any steel price decisions by Americans are "clearly inconsistent with efforts to control the inflation rate."

Both inflation and a sharply-reduced standard of living for the general public are likely to be certainties, unless the Administration stops its political campaigning and takes a realistic look at the troubled steel industry and the effect of its situation on the nation and world.

Port-operated industrial park ideal use for part of Depot

While it is uncertain which governmental agency will gain title to the southern third of the former Granite City Army Engineer Depot, the federal government is wise in declaring it in excess of U.S. needs. Idle for several years, it is not providing any public benefit, and property not in use tends to deteriorate.

Under procedures of the General Services Administration, the 322 acres will be offered first to any non-defense federal departments and agencies that might be interested in utilizing the land and warehouses.

If none choose to do so, state and local governments would have a chance to bid for the site, prior to any opportunity for private businesses to enter the competition.

Most thinking centers on the property's value as an industrial park. Along with its location on rail-river-highway transportation links, it has streets and utilities already in place.

In line with its current goal of fostering shipping and industrial activity to expand job rolls and stimulate economic growth, the Tri-City Regional Port District would appear to be a logical governmental agency to develop such an industrial park.

Speaker slated for club meeting

A monthly meeting of the Granite City Democratic Club will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Guest speaker Myles McCalli of Contemporary Advertising, Marketing and Services will discuss time, cost and effort involved in political communications.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting, and the public is invited. Carole Kopis, president, has announced.

Park visitors may get passes

Visitors to national parks, monuments or recreation areas run by the federal government can save money by ordering Golden Eagle or Golden Eagle Passports, according to Congressman Melvin Price (D., 2nd Illinois).

Rep. Price said that for $10 you can buy a Golden Eagle passport that is good for one year and will admit you and anyone in your car to all national parks that charge an admission fee.

And if you are over 62, Price added, you can obtain at no cost a Golden Age Passport that will admit you to the national parks free of charge.

The passes are made available by the U. S. Department of the Interior. A brochure describing how the passes can be obtained will be mailed to

SODA BOTTLE THEFT

Thieves climbed a fence at Farm Fresh, 2928 Nameoki Road, and stole ten cases of soda bottles after 12:30 a.m. Friday. Bud Clay reported it was the third such theft recently and that bottles worth $100 have been taken.

Golden Age Passports must be obtained in person and are available at most federal recreation areas. Golden Eagle Passports, on the other hand, may be ordered by mail by sending $10 to the National Park Service Headquarters, Interior Building, Washington, D. C. 20240.

INJURED IN FALL
Jalisa Conard, 36 Grenzer Homes, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 4:40 p.m. for back and leg pains she said she suffered in a fall in the 2400 block of Iowa Street. She said she stepped into a hole in the middle of the street.

ARMED ROBBERY
Pat Craddock, Maplewood, Mo., reported to Venice police at 6:26 a.m. Sunday that while on Route 3 between Cahokia and Venice, he was forced off the road and robbed at gun by three men. Taken were $45 in cash, personal papers and a credit card. A citizen turned in the wallet with the credit card and personal papers at noon, but the money was missing.

HOUSE BURGLARY
Burglars broke into the home of Ernest Moore, 1009A Logan St., Venice, ransacked the bedrooms, but apparently took nothing, it was reported at 8 p.m. Friday. Moore told Venice police that the stereo had been moved but was left in the living room. An inventory is being made to determine if anything was taken.

DELMAR ACCIDENT as two cars became locked together in the 1800 block of Delmar Avenue at 1:20 p.m. Wednesday. Phyllis Westbrook, 819 Stanton Ave., driver of the car at the right, said she lost consciousness for a moment and the car veered to the right, hitting the parked car of Mae

L. Waters, Alton. The right rear wheel well of Mrs. Westbrook's auto became tangled with the parked car's bumper and a tow truck was required to separate the two. Mrs. Westbrook was charged with not having a driver's license. She is not in the photo.
